

About the speakers

Gertjan Lankhorst

President of Eurogas and CEO of GasTerra

Gertjan Lankhorst (1957) is CEO of Gas Terra, an international trading company in natural gas, located in Groningen, The Netherlands.

He studied economics at the Free University in Amsterdam. He worked in the Ministry of Economic Affairs in The Netherlands from 1986 until 2006. He held several posts within the ministry, mostly related to the energy policy.

From 1996 until 1999 he was director for Oil and Gas.

In 1999 he moved to the Competition Directorate, where he was responsible for liberalization, competition policy and public procurement policy.

In 2004-2005 he was director-general of Energy.

In 2006 he left the ministry and was appointed as CEO of GasTerra.

Mr Lankhorst is chairman of the supervisory board of the Hanze University of Applied Sciences in Groningen and chairman of the Royal Dutch Gas association (KVGN).

Mr Lankhorst is also President of Eurogas.

About the speakers

Dr. Dörte Fouquet

Director of the European Renewable Energy Federation (EREF)

Dr. Dörte Fouquet is specialized in EU law and international legal relations, with focus on competition, infrastructure, energy and environment.

She is legal advisor to companies, finance institutions, associations, governmental agencies in Germany and other EU Member States, EU institutions and on international level.

- Studies of Law at the Universities of Marburg and Hamburg
- 1982 Research assistant, University of Hamburg
- 1988 Ministry for the Environment and Energy, Hamburg
- 1991 Liaison office of Hamburg and Schleswig-Holstein to the European Commission in Brussels
- 1993 Partner at law firm Kuhbier, Brussels
- Since 2011 Partner at BBH Brussels