

About the speakers

Ella Stengler

Managing Director of CEWEP

Ella Stengler is the Managing Director of CEWEP since July 2003.

Previously she was the Managing Director of ITAD, the German association of Waste-to-Energy Plants, and prior to that she was the Director of AGS the German association of hazardous waste companies (public private partnership).

Ella has published many articles in German and International journals.

She studied law in Germany and France. She wrote her doctoral thesis on the subject: recovery and disposal of waste according to national and Community law. Since 2000 she is also a registered lawyer.

Ella's first contact with waste policy was during her internship in the European Parliament in 1996, when she drafted a report about waste transports within the EU for the Environment Committee.

About the speakers

Luc Valaize

President of the SVDU (France), Deputy President of CEWEP

Luc Valaize is CEO of TIRU, a French company specialized in Energy from Waste, operating 30 units in Europe and in Canada. He is President of the SVDU, the French association of Waste-to-Energy Plants and Deputy President of CEWEP.

Luc Valaize was previously CEO of SOCODEI, an EDF and AREVA subsidiary, specialized in the treatment of low radioactive wastes. Formerly Luc Valaize was an energy generation engineer, in fossil and nuclear power plants.